

A message of Peace and Hope

Within the heart of each story relating to breast cancer can be found a message of courage, finding inner strength and the search for hope and peace. Our lives become connected through the peace and hope we offer each other. Inspired and moved by these powerfully emotional trials and the need for peace in our lives, the Peace and Hope Angel was born and its message reads as follows.

You have lifted yourself beyond the realm of courage.
May the spirit of Peace and Hope shine as your strength.

The "Peace and Hope" angel is engraved with this message. It's the newest edition to the PEACE BY PIECE line created by internationally acclaimed artist Gina Freehill. Gina commented saying, "When designing this angel I wanted the piece to reflect the inner beauty of each person faced with this disease and its message to empower them with the spirit of peace and hope". The angel exhibits various symbols relating to breast cancer. She holds an open heart engraved with the words Peace and Hope that's embellished with a pink rhinestone. A pink sheer ribbon is tied around her waist and a pink ribbon charm decorated with crystals hangs from within her skirt.

The meaning of the PEACE BY PIECE line is sending a powerful message touching the emotions of many. May this collection inspire a feeling of tranquility and inner peace. It's available exclusively by Roman, Inc. and a portion of all proceeds will be donated to the American Cancer Society.
